INSAGNEE ON LAND MEASURE

some other arrangements, is dead. After spending several hours fighting over amendments, and adopting some of them, the senate refused to send the bill to the enrolling and engrossing committees to be prepared for third reading. Nine to nine was the vote by which the motion was lost.

One amendment that was adopted provided that grazing land should not be leased for less than 3 cents an acre, or agricultural land for less than 50 cents. It was adopted on the condition that the commission on land commission to lease land on application for periods not exceeding five years. It was left to the discretion of the commission to pay less for fences, upon the relinquishment of leases.

Sequestration Measure.
Senate bill No. 44, for the abatement of houses of lewdness, came back from the house and the senate refused to concur in the amendment providing for restricted districts inside incorporated cities and towns.

Wesley Hubbell and Hechtman are the conference committee from the senate. Lewis, Kilton and Wren from the house. It is not expected that the committee will agree without much difficulty.

H. J. Wood, Kinney, Roberts and Levin, of the appropriation committee, recommended the indefinite postponement of house bill 39, appropriating $3000 to pay the expenses of veterans to the reunion that is to be held on the field of the battle of Gettysburg, Hughes, Pace and C. B. Wood signed the minority report, which was favorable to the bill. It was referred to the committee on whole.

Chase, C. B. Wood and Worsley, of the corporations committee, recommended that Wood's eight-hour law for employees of public service corporations be passed. Sims signed a report all by himself, advocating indefinite postponement. Sims thinks the bill unconstitutional.

Hunt Signs Bills.
Governor Hunt notified the senate that he had signed the following bills: Senate bill 22, by C. B. Wood, levy and collection of taxes.

House bill 8, by code revision committee, Hens.

Senate bill 34, by Willis, for the relief of squatters on school lands.

Senate bill 61, by code revision committee, contracts for the construction of public buildings.

House bill 15, by code revision committee, boards of health.

Veteran Printing Measure.
Holding 35 cents an inch too low maximum charge for public printing in a remote district, where the cost of running a newspaper is high, Gov. Hunt this morning vetoed the printing code. The legislature reduced the maximum from 25 cents. The senate voted 10 to 8 to sustain the veto.

When the senate adjourned for the day, the penal code, corporation commission code, insurance code and several other bills of less length were ready for third reading. There was much talk of a night session but finally the senators agreed to begin reading them at 8 o'clock this morning.

House Kills Widows' Pension Bill.
The house today passed the general appropriation bill carrying $1,500,000 to run the state two years.

Irvine's widows' pension bill is dead, and so is the Hughes amendment to the miners' lien law.

The Irvine bill occupied several hours of the house's valuable time Wednesday and for a period its chances looked good. In fact it was reported favorably by the committee of the whole and after that it was referred to the enrolling and engrossing committee to be prepared for third reading, only to be indefinitely postponed by a vote of 19 to 15.

Lynch and others declared that the pension measure would bankrupt some of the counties. Jacobs charged that such a law would "create an indigent class." After the house had referred the bill to the enrolling and engrossing committee a motion to postpone indefinitely was carried.

Most of the argument over the Hughes bill, providing for the submission of a modified miners' lien law to the people, was in committee of the whole. The recommendation of the committee, that the bill be indefinitely postponed, was adopted. Barker, Buchanan, Crofoot, Curry, Ellis, Jones, Kane, Kelton and Kirke Moore dissented.

The present law makes any debt incurred in working a mine a lien upon the property itself, whether contracted by the owner or a lessee. Hughes would have only labor claims comprise such such a lien.

For Dry Farm Exhibit.
In the forenoon the appropriation committee, at the request of speaker Llaney, introduced a bill appropriating $1000 for an Arizona exhibit at the dry farming congress, to be held at Tulsa, Oklahoma, next October. It was rushed through with five negative votes. They were cast by Duncan, Gonzalez, Jacobs, Kane and Maddock.

Kirke Moore was the only one who voted against senate bill No. 84, the bank examination code.

With a few minor amendments in the way of corrections, senate bill No. 72, providing for the payment of legislative attaches for the last two days of the second special session was passed.

The senate concurred in the amendments and the bill went to the governor.

Bills Passed.
Davis's bill empowering the land commission to proceed at once with the selection of the million acres granted to the enabling act to Mexico, Pima, Yavapai and Coconino counties, to pay off outstanding railroad bonds, was passed with only Graham opposing.

The Hughes bill authorizing the employment of convicts on roads was passed. Craig, Gonzalez, Kane, Kelton, Hall, Kelton and Kirke Moore on the losing side.

The senate resolution thanking the legislature of southern states for their work toward securing the "southern national highway," which is to cross Arizona, was adopted.

House bill 59, the code relating to the levy and collection of school taxes, passed without dissent.

Tom Maddock created a sensation by introducing a resolution pledging the house to adjourn Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The motion was lost 11 to 16. The 14 are Rabbitt, Buchanan, Cooke, Craig, Curry, Duncan, Gonzalez, Jacobs, Jacobson, Kelton, Lewis, Maddock, Mattox, A. A. Moore, Murphy, The 16 believe that there is plenty to keep the two houses occupied till Tuesday evening, when the appropriation for this session runs out.

Why I Wouldn't Marry an American Millionaire

By Mlle. NAPIERKOWSKA, The Celebrated Russian Dancer Now Appearing in Paris.

EXPECT to dance in America—yes. Do I expect to marry an American millionaire? No, no, jamais!

No, never would I marry one of your rich Americans—not if he ask me, which maybe he has and maybe he has not.

Here in Paris, in Russia, in Germany, I have observed your rich Americans. I observe husbands who know nothing but how to make money to keep their wives in splendid, idle luxury.

I observe American wives, who know something, but do nothing—yet Solomon in all his glory was not clothed nor jeweled like one of these! Parasites! Condemned by their own husbands to be elegant parasites, too elegant and too idle even to care for their own children—yes, mostly too elegantly idle to have children at all!

Is it of the wives of American millionaires that Olive Schreiner speaks in her wonderful book—the women of good society who are forced to become parasites?

Of what more use in the world are they than those women of a certain class who have always been parasites?

I am an artist. Ever since early childhood I have labored with body and brain incessantly, to achieve merit among artists—and to win independence. Never, for hardly an hour, have I been idle—and never a parasite. Having now independence through the art I love, why should I condemn myself to idleness?

For me it would be better, if I wished to marry, to marry a poor man—and support him.

If in America I should know a poor man, and he loved me and I loved him, that would be different. Behold the poetic justice of turning an American husband into a parasite!

No, as for those American millionaires—ha, ha! It is to laugh. They are not husbands, they are moneybags! How I pity their poor wives, who are so often of great knowledge and intelligence—fit mates for poets, philosophers and scientists. Helas! What chance have they, chained fast to a moneybag?

Oh, yes, I will dance for the American millionaires. I will do business with him, dine with him (not too often, for I am easily bored), drive with him, sail with him, perhaps fly with him (when the airplanes are so safe as not to endanger his moneybag existence); but marry him—jamais, never!

LOS ANGELES SCHOOLS BAN THE "SLIT" SKIRT

(Ankle Twinkling Through Vents in Skirts Cause Two Girls to Be Sent Home From High School.)

Los Angeles, Calif., May 8.—"Slit" skirts cannot be worn in Los Angeles schools by students. The order caused the absence from Polytechnic High school today of Misses Levine and Leonita Parker, sisters who were told to go home and change their raiment when they entered their class room with ankles twinkling through vents in their skirts.

Principal W. A. Dunn's order was vigorously protested by fellow students of the Parker girls, who accused the principal of discrimination, in that he allowed a young woman employed in the school offices to wear such a skirt.

REBELS DYNAMITE TRAIN OF FEDERALS

attacked by dynamite and most of the passengers killed, said an official state report received here today. The disaster occurred near the Sonora-Sinaloa state line. The federals were on the way from San Blas to Alamos, when intercepted by the insurgents, who had planted mines along the tracks.

Nearly 2000 uncivilized Yaqui Indians have joined the state troops, said the report.

United States army officers here today heard nothing of the reported capture of the war airplane below Tucson and continued their search for the missing machine.

FINDS SHORTAGE IN RURALES CORPS FUNDS.
Grafting to the amount of $2,000,000 has been discovered in the conduct of the rurales corps by Mexican minister Garcia Grandos, who is conducting an investigation of this department. The cabinet minister has issued a statement in which he says the grafting was done by the paymasters and lesser officers. Because of the dual system in effect in the rurales corps by which the corps reported to the war department of government, the facilities for grafting were greatly increased.

A number of arrests of paymasters and commandants of rurales have been made and others are to follow. The misappropriation of funds in the corps has been accomplished by the purchase of food at fictitious prices, the payment of excessive payrolls in war time and the general mismanagement of this branch of the Mexican fighting force.

GUADALUPE PEACEFUL.
Guadalupe, the peaceful little village on the Mexican side of the island opposite Fabens, is as peaceful as it was before the coming of Madero and his army. There is not a sign of a revolutionary there or now. There, the residents of the island say.

MEXICAN MONEY 46 CENTS.
Mexican money is hovering around 46 cents with little demand for it. The money is not being bought in large quantities by the banks, although the Mexican cattle dealers continue to buy it in small quantities.

MORE BRIDGES BURNED.

HUERTA PUTS STOP TO RIOT QUICKLY

Huerta has shown his mailed fist again and is ready to put over a steel coated wallop pill to any who start trouble in the Mexican capital. A riot was demonstrated on May 5—Cinco de Mayo—when the parades which it is customary to have in the Mexico City streets, were in progress. A riot started by an over enthusiastic gathering, and it was not more than a minute until Huerta's federals swooped down upon the rioters and had the riot under control. Heavy field pieces and machine guns were leveled on the crowd and federal soldiers were ready to fire when the order came. Gen. Felix Diaz denied that it was a demonstration in his favor.

ARMED MEXICANS ARE HOLDING UP TRAINS

Armed Mexicans have been sticking up the freight and passenger trains on the Mexico North Western below Juarez, passengers on the North Western train, which arrived here Wednesday, brought the story of a holdup at kilometer 195, below Juarez, when 20 armed men stopped a train and took a quantity of supplies from the train. The same Mexicans are also believed to have stopped two freight trains going to Chihuahua and taken from one a number of head of horses.

FEDERALS ARE SEIZING AMMUNITION ON BORDER
Border gun runners have been active along the Texas border opposite Coahuila. The Mexican authorities stationed on the south side of the border recently confiscated 3000 rifles and a quantity of ammunition which was intended for revolutionary purposes in Mexico. The Mexican government was advised that the shipment was in the house of a Carranza sympathizer in a small Texas town. The Mexican consul there was warned to watch the shipment, and when it was started across the border the line riders on the Mexican side seized the entire shipment.
